- "Diane's Ride"

- Angelita Martinez
- Is a Seattle artist who practices with an emphasis in painting and drawing. Raised in Montana on the Reservation of the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes, attending the University of Montana, she learned a thing or two about making images, appropriating Western Styles, Contemporary Naturalism, and Art Movements, to create a new inclusive narrative. She's been enjoying Seattle life for about 10 years. She has shown in Montana, Washington, Nevada, and Oregon.
- "Diane's Ride:" What if Artemis rode around in customized chariot inspired by 70's and 80's (that's 1900's.) Some iridescence? Rally stripes? That was the motive for this acrylic painting. Now a print on $100 rag paper, 11" x 20", numbered, white bordered, with artist signature along the bottom. Limited edition. Run of 50 Only.

- Misoda Glass Vase

- Melissa Misoda
- Melissamisoda.com
- Melissa and her husband, Andy, own Misoda Glass, a private glassblowing studio in West Seattle. Melissa has been blowing glass for 27 years, and teaching glassblowing at Sammamish High School in Bellevue for 22 years. Together they have 2 awesome & adorably handsome boys. She has been a part of the boxing gym for the past 6 years, and is proud to call that community her second home! Her latest series, the "Earthscapes" vessels, were born at the start of quarantine. Her goal was to bring about brightness and joy during the uncertainty of the circumstances we all suddenly found ourselves in. Melissa is a big advocate in art for mental health, and finds that making art is just as important as the finished product.

- "La Fondita" by Woods Bramble

- Woods Bramble
- 66" x 72" Oil on Canvas
- An American painter residing in Seattle, WA. At 52 he is a transplant from Los Angeles and has lived and worked in Seattle for the last decade, devoting his work to the unsung areas of the city. Focusing heavily on buildings and street scenes, including electrical wiring and other ephemera, he is fascinated by the mundane and pedestrian, feeling that these subject matters connect all who live in the city. After working thirty plus years in the tattooing industry, his painting style is far less precise and strives to recreate the loose feeling of the pieces he saw in his grandfather's studio as a boy. He lives and works in the West Seattle neighborhood with his wife and two youngest children.
